1. In mid-October 1951 a militia training center was being established at Yent'ang (燕塘), Canton, by the South China Military Area (SCMA) Command. HUANG Tung-sheng (黃永勝) was director of the center. The SCMA had ordered each military sub-district to recruit 300 able-bodied young men for a two-month training course at the center, which was to begin on 1 November. After completion of the training all were to be assigned to regular army units as replacements.
2. Between 12 and 15 October, 300 recruits from each of the following military sub-district commands arrived in Yent'ang: Pearl River, central Kwangtung and West River.

Hong Kong
